Dear Editor:

Congratulations on your re-accession to the editorial reins of WONDER WOMAN.

Although I had gradually become used to the new "de-Wonderized" Diana Prince, I'm glad that you've pushed back the clock to bring back the original Princess Diana.

The transitional issue, No. 204, was handled relatively well: Diana loses I Ching, becomes involved in a life-and-death struggle with a madman, loses her memory, seeks to regain her earlier identity, is found by a group of the Amazons and returned to Paradise Island where she regains her memory and is re-introduced to her heritage. And in addition two new elements of great potential suspense are introduced . . . the mysterious Nubia and a new career at the United Nations promising international intrigue.

Wow! There certainly was enough material in "The Second Life of Wonder Woman" to have been stretched out over several issues. Little wonder that some minor but important loose ends were left dangling. Specifically: 1) What impelled Queen Hippolyte to return from whatever dimension Paradise Island had been transported to back in #179? . . . 2) Why weren't the two top panels on P. 14 describing the early origins of the Amazons more clearly explained? . . . 3) Why didn't the bottom panels on P. 17 show WONDER WOMAN growing up as Wonder Tot and Wonder Girl? . . . 4) If you've restored Diana Prince to her Amazon status, why didn't she return to Manhattan via her robot plane? . . . 5) How will the re-appearance of W.W. be explained to the world?

Hopefully, these points will be straightened out in future issues.

And now for some "do's" . . . 1) Keep WONDER WOMAN in the present, in an age of realism and relevancy. No campy experiments. No Wonder Tot and Wonder Girl . . . 2) Bring back Dick Giordano as the artist . . . 3) Speak to Julie Schwartz about re-instating W.W. in the Justice League of America . . . 4) Give the "new-old" change lots of publicity via posters (ads) and guest-star appearances in D.C. magazines . . . 5) Bring back the original logo of the 1940's.

Joe Arul
New York, N.Y.

Dear Joe:

1) MY Golden Lasso! . . . 2) Make yourself clearer, please. . . . 3) You answered this question yourself in the 2nd sentence of your own 4th paragraph. I didn't have the room. Or I could have devoted a separate issue to each. . . . 4) You've a sharp eye. You should have seen the plane being washed in the Robotorium Laundry. . . . 5) You ask such excellent questions, why don't you do it?

1) WONDER WOMAN is a woman—she's unpredictable. . . . 2) Negative . . . 3) Double negative . . . 4) Watch for T.V.'s "To Tell the Truth." She's already been on the front cover of "Ms." #1. . . . 5) Positively.

R.K.

* * * * *

Dear Editor:

Over the years, I have collected every issue of WONDER WOMAN, except for seven issues. She has been, without a doubt, one of the most interesting characters comic books have produced. The changes in format over the years have been many and varied, never allowing the avid fan a chance for boredom.

In case anyone doesn't know, WONDER WOMAN is the ONLY comics character to survive from the "Golden Age" to the present, with the exceptions of Superman and Batman. And that reminds me: 1972 is WONDER WOMAN's 30th anniversary. How about celebrating it with a long overdue WONDER WOMAN giant?

And finally, it's nice to have the "old original" back. But don't let her get bogged down in "relevancy"-type stories, as was hinted at by introducing a black foe. We had enough of that stuff with Green Lantern.

York Anderson
Milwaukee, Wisconsin

Dear York:

Don't be color-blind. Black, white, brown, yellow, green and polka-dots can be beautiful. Just sit back and enjoy the ORIGINAL WONDER WOMAN without fretting.

R.K.

* * * * *

Dear Editor:

I must say your comic books are great. They are realistic and they seem like the people in them really exist! Another thing . . . you seem to be the first comic book I've seen to have women by themselves, which I enjoy. Keep up the good work!

Veronica Perkins
Petersburg, Va.

Dear Veronica:

I can't by keeping men out.

R.K.

* * * * *

Dear Editor:

It's finally happened!!! After 27 issues Diana Prince has once again donned her red, white and blue uniform, taken up her magic golden lasso, and become WONDER WOMAN again. I hope you will bring back some of her magical, mythical but menacing foes like Giganta, the Cheeta, Volcano Man, the Phantom Fisherbird, Angle Man, etc.

I definitely think Steve Trevor should be back. He would surely find out WONDER WOMAN is back and come running.

Here are some of my impressions of W.W. #204. Art was fantastic. I liked Charles Moulton's stories a lot, and hope these next million issues will be as good.

Bless you for bringing WONDER WOMAN back to us!

Oops! Ran this instead of a letter tearing us apart in 26 single-spaced pages . . . typed on both sides . . . and dripping off the edges. Solemnly swear to print it as soon as we find asbestos gloves to pick it up!

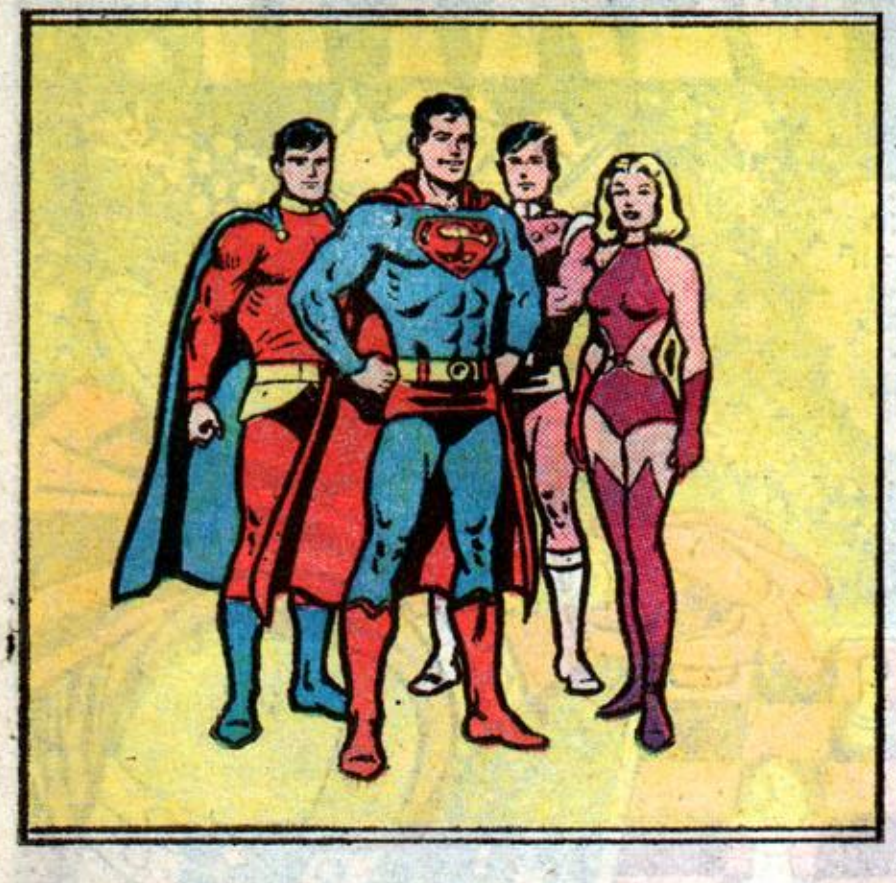
DIRECT CURRENTS

It's here! At long last we're ready to unleash the greatest pulp hero of all time. Who knows what evil lurks in the hearts of men? THE SHADOW knows! Join him for "The Doom Puzzle" a fascinating new thriller by Denny O'Neil and Mike Kaluta . . . exploding on your newsstand in the second week of July. Reserve your copies of the premiere issue (November) early . . . it'll probably sell out just like the first issue of Shazam!

After you finish that thriller, get set for 100 pages of action with SUPERBOY in DC SUPER-SPECTACULAR #21 (October). Besides three sensational adventures of Superman as a boy, there are stories of The Legion Of Super-Heroes, The Teen Titans, Supergirl and Kid Eternity. Turn on with the teen super-heroes in the biggest bargain comic of all—coming your way in the second week of July.



Travel to the mysterious Tracking Site with the last boy on Earth and battle the unbelievable menace of "The Killer Germ" . . . not to mention the mysterious Misfit, some deadly bats, and a million other dangers. That's all in the October issue of KAMANDI (#10), on sale in the second week of July!

The bottle city of Kandor is the last surviving home of the Kryptonian people. Join LOIS LANE and the incomparable Superman there as they try to solve the mystery entitled "Stolen—Ten Million Lives" in the October issue of Lois' mag (#134) . . . on sale in the second week of July.

"Sorry, I'm Not Ready To Die" was THE UNEXPECTED cry of a man who tried to cheat death. Read his shocking story in the October issue #151) of the most unusual mystery mag of all. Speaking of unusual stories, there's an ancient legend entitled "Grave In The Sky" in this issue, as well as the story of a dead man's brother who must commit "An Act Of Vengeance." Fright fans should watch for this one in the second week of July.

One of the tenants of THE HOUSE OF MYSTERY is a man called "The Abominable Iceman" . . . and he's more interested in making money than saving lives! His startling story is the main feature in the October issue (#218), on sale in the second week of July. Cain's got more fearsome tales too, but he's keeping them so secret that you'll just have to buy the issue to find out about them!

Are you ready for a very special issue of a mystery mag? The October issue of THE WITCHING HOUR (#35) certainly qualifies—it's got three very special artists on spectacular stories! First, Luis Dominquez contributes a terrifying tale about "The Dread Of Night." Luis is new to DC, but his stunning covers are quickly earning him a very good reputation. "Cry In Car 13" is illustrated by Norm Maurer, whose "Medal Of Honor" series used to run in the war titles. "Child Of Evil" by Lee Elias, about whom no more need be said, rounds out this issue . . . coming in the second week of July.

Then, transfer your attention to The Haunted Tank in the October issue of G.I. COMBAT (#165), on sale in the second week of July.

If you can't find any of our magazines at your favorite newsstand or candy store, please let us know. We will try to correct the problem. One for roads.

Real racing requires a different sort of machine. And no one is better equipped to provide it than Raleigh with its long tradition of winning competition all over the world. Here's a new Record 24, which is a scaled down version of a popular adult racer. It's the one racer not-so-grown up racers don't have to grow up for.

One for loads.

The Sprite — one of the spirited Raleigh touring bicycles — is built for effortless bicycling. Rugged enough to take back-packing trips or a sack of daily papers without straining. Choice of 5 or 10 speeds, the Sprite comes equipped with rear carrier and comfortable spring mattress saddle, plus self-adjusting brakes.

Your Raleigh dealer has lots of other possibilities. See him and the 73 Raleigh cycles. If you'd like to see a preview, send 25¢ for our new catalog.
