DEADPOOL®

Some jobs are just too tough for your average fast-talkin' high-tech gun-for-hire. Sometimes...to get the job done right...you need someone crazier than a sack'a ferrets. You need Wade Wilson. The Crimson Comedian. The Regeneratin' Degenerate. The Merc with a Mouth...

DEADPOOL

Recently Deadpool decided he wanted to do something good with his life and join the X-Men. But not all of the X-Men were excited to hear that. In fact...none of them were. So Cyclops, the X-Men leader, sent the Merc packing. Then Cyclops, worried that a rejected Deadpool might cause trouble in neighboring San Francisco, sent Domino to offer Deadpool a probationary spot on the team until they can figure out what to do with him. Deadpool accepted, donning a homemade X-Men uniform.

Meanwhile a distraught man named Ellis Kincaid, the father of the mutant called Mercury, has gone to the media and publicly denounced Cyclops and the X-Men as villains who are holding his daughter against her will on their island home of Utopia. This is of course untrue, but it has created quite a sensitive political situation for Cyclops. One that Deadpool intends to resolve... by assassinating Mr. Kincaid...

While the X-Men move to stop Deadpool from killing Mercury's father, Norman Osborn, the villainous leader of the former S.H.I.E.L.D. organization now known as H.A.M.M.E.R., is hoping Deadpool succeeds. He knows that should Wade take Kincaid out, Deadpool will have made the X-Men look like criminals. Which only benefits Norman's long term goal of destroying the X-Men. So to help ensure that Deadpool accomplishes his mission, Norman has placed Kincaid into the hands of two dangerously inept H.A.M.M.E.R. agents who take Kincaid to a "secure" location in the form of a very public train platform. Now, with his prey in his sites, the media watching and the X-Men distracted...

Deadpool has Kincaid right where he wants him...
