Dear Wonder Woman,

I have read Dennis Rule's suggestion in the last issue of WONDER WOMAN that you should wear your costume again when you are battling crime and injustice, and I agree with him. I liked your costume, with its emblem and weapons. After all, even without your special Amazon powers, and your Amazon weapons, you are a WONDER WOMAN. Surely somewhere in your boutique you could find the material to make a costume for yourself, similar to your old one.

But in the new look you have as Diana, you're beautiful. Your hair is so much better now, and I like the clothes that you wear as Diana. As for Steve, he is dead now—so just keep on meeting new guys in your adventures. And perhaps you could have a story in your magazine that also includes WONDER GIRL. Not too often, but at least once.

Deborah Rust
San Francisco

Note: I wrote to Wonder Woman, instead of the Editor because I sort of like to think of Wonder Woman as being almost a real heroine, especially now that she has no more power than you or I. (I'm 17 and I have been reading her adventures since I was nine.)

* * *

Dear Editor,

In Wonder Woman, #194 Dennis Rule brought up the suggestion of putting Wonder Woman in costume again because she has proven herself good without super powers, and Black Canary is doing it. This is my case against costuming Wonder Woman. For one thing WW is not played up very much, whereas Diana Prince is. She doesn't need to be a Wonder Woman in costume, because she now goes international, wearing the latest in clothes, using her brains, and martial arts when needed in her adventures. Another advantage is that she can be more open in her pursuits while in "plain clothes" instead of announcing herself with a costume. Attending to business can be done now, instead of finding a place to change or waiting for a better time of day for costume trekking.

Lastly, if you bring back Steve Trevor, bring him back only as an occasional guest. Diana with two men, in or out of costume, is very similar to the Black Canary theme, even in romantic relationship.

For now, please don't change Diana.

Sincerely,
Neil Glossop
Baton Rouge, La.

Dear Editor:

We, too, are hooked on the new Wonder Woman. There is simply not another female character in DC—or in all of Comicedom—as fully realized as Diana Prince. Diana is carefully drawn (no pun intended!) and—so far, at least—absolutely consistent. Somehow she remains un-hard and un-silly—a thin line usually traversed by well-meaning male writers. One also gets the feeling Ye Olde Editor and Resident Writer reads a lot; hence the tale based on Prisoner of Zenda, as well as the Book of I-Ching, New England ghost stories, etc. That's pretty nice, too.

So what's the problem? Getting hold of each issue! First of all, bi-monthly for a mag of this quality is ridiculous (six times a year for the old Wonder Woman was probably too much!). Secondly, the comic-distribution system on the West Coast is lousy; we keep missing issues.

So don't disappoint your newly-loyal fans—please re-establish subscriptions. That would be ideal. Or strong-arm your West Coast distributors or Something!!

Sincerely,

Jenny Collins

Los Angeles, Calif.

P.S.: Thanks for getting rid of Steve Trevor. Now, there was a lox!

* * *

Dear Editor:

I am furious. How dare you say "I didn't like Steve Trevor. He was dull and boring so I disposed of him"?

Well, Steve Trevor wasn't boring to me. Steve was only as dull as your writer made him. He had a lot of things going for him to make him exciting and if Lois Lane can change, so can Steve! Are you trying to say that if you don't like someone, just rub him out? Maybe I don't like you!

Why don't you have Steve come back as a ghost? Diana loved him so much she didn't even have the common decency to attend his funeral or wait until he was cold before she went flirting with every Tom, Dick and Harry. Steve should come back and haunt her!

Yours truly,
Carol Lynn Pagina
New York, N.Y.

To all Wonder Woman readers:

We, the new editors of WONDER WOMAN, would like to thank all of you for your continuing enthusiasm, whether for the old or the new versions of our favorite heroine.

Without commenting specifically on your suggestions, we will only say that great new adventures are in store for Diana and her inscrutable cohort I-Ching. Watch for a special announcement by script writer Denny O'Neil in the next issue of Wonder Woman. It's a tip-off on the shape of things to come.

Features actual WW I fighter plane components

The idea for a show rod that would shoot down all competition had been on the mind of custom car designer Tom Daniel for some time. When he finally rolled out the RED BARON, the entire show-car world went into a tail-spin. Based on the legend created by WW I's famous "Red Baron" and his blood-red Fokker Triplane, the car was a wild success.

Now, YOU can build this champion of the show-car circuit! You'll know just how Tom Daniel feels when he fires up his 1914 Mercedes Benz airplane engine with its exhaust booming out through six Alpenhorn trumpets...and as he roars down the track seated beneath the huge spiked helmet, sighting along the two chromed machine guns. Your scale model is a detail-perfect replica of Tom Daniel's RED BARON. It's loads of fun to build...and a real joy to own.
