LEAVING THE TORCH BEHIND,
YOU IMMEDIATELY SCURRY
TO THE PARKER FAMILY
RESIDENCE IN FOREST HILLS--

-- STILL DETERMINED TO WARN YOUR DAD ABOUT
JAMESON'S SPIDER-SLAYER.

EVEN AS YOU ARRIVE AT HIS CURRENT HOME--AND YOUR FUTURE ONE--YOU SPOT
FLASH THOMPSON AND A FEW OF HIS CRONIES.

BULLIED BY THOMPSON,
HOUNDED BY JAMESON,
YOUR DAD'S TEENAGE YEARS
COULDN'T HAVE BEEN MUCH FUN.

THE ONLY PERSON
HE COULD COUNT ON WAS AUNT MAY.

AHHH!
YOU'VE COME BACK--!
IS PETER HOME,
MRS. PARKER?

NOT YET,
MY DEAR....
BUT I EXPECT HIM
SHORTLY.

COME IN, AND I'LL INTRODUCE
YOU TO SOME OTHER PEOPLE
WHO DROPPED IN TO VISIT
MY NEPHEW.

MISS MAY DAY,
I'D LIKE YOU TO MEET
LIZ ALLEN...BETTY
BRANT... AND, OF COURSE,
MY NEIGHBOR'S NIECE,
MARY JANE WATSON.

ANOTHER GIRL?!

MORE COMPETITION?!

A PLEASURE TO MEET
YOU!

I-IT'S YOUR MOM!

B-BUT SHE'S SO...SO YOUNG!

EVEN AS YOU CATCH
THE ICY STARES
COMING FROM ALLEN AND BRANT--

-- YOU IMAGINE YOUR FATHER'S CURRENT SITUATION--

-- AND IMMEDIATELY
START TO ENVY HIM!

ALLEN AND BRANT EVENTUALLY MAKE THEIR EXCUSES, BUT YOU--YOU JUST CAN'T RESIST THE CHANCE TO HANG WITH YOUR MOM!

I KNOW WE JUST MET, BUT THERE'S SOMETHING ODDLY FAMILIAR ABOUT YOU, MAY.

WEIRD! I FEEL THE SAME...

BUT THE PERSON I'M THINKING ABOUT IS A LOT MORE reserved!

WHAT'S WITH THE JEANS AND T-SHIRT?

Y-YOU DON'T LIKE MY CLOTHES?

DO PEOPLE REALLY DRESS LIKE THAT WHERE YOU COME FROM?

RESERVED?!! HA! THAT'S ONE WORD NO ONE WILL EVER USE TO DESCRIBE ME!

YOU'RE A GIRL, MAY! DRESS LIKE ONE!

YOU AND I SHOULD GO SHOPPING SOME DAY.

NOW YOU SOUND LIKE MY MOTHER!

YEAH, RIGHT!

SO THAT WAS YOUR MOM--HOO-BOY!

HOW DID A BASHFUL BOOKWORM LIKE YOUR DAD EVER HOOK UP WITH HER?!

OH, WELL!! YOU CAN'T WORRY ABOUT THAT NOW.

YOU STILL HAVE TO FIND SPYRAL, AND SOMEHOW CONVINCE HIM TO SEND YOU BACK HOME.

AND THEN, THERE'S THE PROBLEM OF YOUR DAD--

--AND THAT YOUR SPIDER-SENSE WILL--

BINGO!

THAT'S HIM!

IT'S GOT TO BE HIM!

OR NOT!

REMEMBER ME, TOOTS?

I'LL GIVE YOU A HINT-- what's red and blue with webs all over?!

WHULPPP-Z!

BY THE WAY,
I SIMPLY LOVE
THE WAY YOU'VE ACCESSORIZED YOUR COSTUME.

I TRUST THIS KNAPSACK IS AS HANDY FOR YOU
AS IT IS FOR ME!

FINDING YOU WAS A REAL CINCH! I JUST CHECKED OUT EVERY RECENT SPIDER-SIGHTING, AND ELIMINATED THE AREAS WHERE I'D BEEN!

KWAM!

GLAD I MADE
IT SO EASY FOR YOU!

LET GO!
MAN!

SARRRKE

OOOOO! I... I AM SO SORRY!

I DIDN'T MEAN TO KICK SO HARD!

HI THERE!

I'VE BEEN LOOKING ALL OVER FOR YOU,
HONEY BUN.

SPIDER-MAN AND THE HUMAN TORCH--?!

AS INDIVIDUALS, THEY'VE TRIUMPHED OVER MANY OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST SUPER-BADDIES!

WE WERE JUST GETTING TO KNOW EACH OTHER WHEN YOU RAN OUT
ON ME.

I HATE BEING DITCHED!
A LOT!

TOGETHER, THEY'RE PRACTICALLY UNBEATABLE!

YOU'RE ONLY A ROOKIE, GIRL!

COMMON SENSE SAYS
YOU BEG FOR MERCY--

--OR RUN!
RUN!
RUN!

I ASSUME SHE ISN'T RELATED!

BITE YOUR TONGUE,

Hi, Heroes! I heard a funny line recently and what's the good of hearing something funny if you can't share it with your friends? So here it is, in its entirety: 'If the "blackbox" flight recorder is never damaged when a plane crashes, then why don't they build the whole plane out of that stuff?' Something to think about, huh? Reminds me of something my dad, who was a real off-beat thinker, used to say, "Why don't they attach a huge parachute to the top of every plane? Then, if the plane has engine trouble, the pilot can just activate the 'chute and the plane will float to the ground." Just wantcha to know I'm thinking all the time!

Speaking of thinking, what d'ya think of this query from Noel Coleman of Murray, UT?

"Since Wolverine's healing factor grows his hair fast, how often does he have to shave or get haircuts?"

Maybe I missed something, Noel, but I don't remember reading that Wolverine's hair grows fast. I figure his healing factor only applies to things that have to heal, like broken bones or wounds. Of course, maybe if someone ever wounded his hair or if he fractured his sideburns then I guess he'd heal in a flash. But since you deserve a serious answer to a serious question, Wolvie gets a haircut twice a month on the 1st and 15th. And there's this cute little manicurist-- but that's another story.

Seems to me the questions get harder and harder. Here's one from Dan Summerfield, of Dresbach, MN...

"What exactly are Spider-Man's eyepieces made of?"

I was tempted to say "Snips and snails and puppy dogs' tails" but you'd think I was just being frivolous. Actually, Dan, this is one of the rare times when I have to fail a True Believer!

STAN'S SOAPBOX

You see, due to the fact that this is the most widely read column in all of comic bookdom, there's no telling how many villains and super villains may be reading these lines right now. If I were to reveal the secret formula behind Spidey's eyepieces, there's always the chance that some public enemy would duplicate his eyepieces and turn himself into a master criminal. I know that a brand new No-Prize Laureate like you would never want that to happen, right?

Matt Welty of Thorntown, IN asks a question I keep hearing over and over...

"I recently learned about your new company, Stan Lee Media. Does that mean you're resigning from Marvel? I sure hope not."

Set thy fears to rest, Bunk. Nothing short of an H-bomb could tear me from the company I love. I'm just setting up my own website, in my spare time, for the fun of it. Come and visit when we officially open in August, but no matter what-- Marvel Rules!

SPIDER-GIRL

Dear Spider-Girl Crew,

Great work on Spider-Girl #7! I really like Nova's role as the Superman archetype of the MC-2 Universe.

And, as for issue #6...I suppose that the Ladyhawks are fairly interesting characters. (I would assume that one of them is really Davida, but that would be way too obvious, right?) The thing I found most interesting, though, was the appearance of the original costume of the high-flying Falcon! To be totally honest, I always thought it was horribly gaudy and inappropriate for the Falcon...but it somehow works for Ladyhawk. Now that question is, if the Ladyhawk's merchandising blitz is successful, will they have to pay royalties to Sam Wilson?

Keith Previc
New Cumberland, PA

That's a question only their lawyer can answer, Keith! (By the way, you were the first one to mention Sam—Congratulations for being as sharp with your eyes as you are with your tongue!)

Dear Mayday Team,

Yahoo!! The "Old Fart Spider" finally came to his senses! Will he come to regret giving daughter May his blessings? (Well, duh!) And what's up with Mary Jane? Since when is little Miss "Don't do it, Tiger!" changing her tune when it comes to her own daughter's webslinging? And what about good old Uncle Urich? The New Green Goblin was one of my favorite titles! I mean, just cuz a Sentinel broke his mask fifteen years ago doesn't mean he still isn't a hero deep down, right? (Bring back the Goblin! You pick the color.)

Finally, when's dear old Dad gonna don the duds and hobble off on an adventure with his old buddy, the Torch? I bet Reed (er, Branian) still has that leg prototype in bubble wrap somewhere. If Peter tries another stunt like that one at the courthouse (fighting out of costume), he may blow the whole family's secret identity! Even Moose should've caught that one!

Pastor John Stiles
Grace Lutheran Church

Knowing the ever-prepared Dr. Richards, you're probably right, padre! (As for Pete and Phil donning the old duds—we'd tell you to keep the faith, but that probably has a much different connotation in your biz!)

Dear Marvel Comics,

I am a real fan of Spider-Man. I have watched the television show for several years, but I have never read any of the comic books. Yesterday I purchased my first Marvel comic—Spider-Girl #8.

Although I feel a little lost, coming in the middle of the story line, I have to say that I feel slightly disappointed. Peter was a brilliant scientist and Mary Jane wanted an acting career, but what disturbed me the most was a letter from Jacob Gilbert.

The letter said, "Retirement does strange things to people, including ex-super heroes. Take Peter Parker. Forced into retirement due to the loss of a leg in battle, he now is reluctant to allow May, who's inherited his powers, to follow in his footsteps. Whatever happened to believing in accepting the responsibilities that come with the power?"

I feel that the readers need to give Peter Parker a break. He knows from experience what it means to be a super hero, and how the responsibilities can wear on one's mind. Also, the readers need to remember that it is different when it is your own child that wants to risk her life. That can be unsettling for a parent, especially one who knows what the job demands. A big part of his reaction has to do with the fear of losing her, because when she is gone, she is gone and nothing will bring her back.

All in all I have to say I was impressed with Marvel Comics, and I will continue to purchase Spider-Girl so that I can see what happens to May and her family.

Any suggestions on how to get back issues?

Ashley McCarty
Carrollton, TX

First, we'd like to welcome you to the fold, Ashley. You can't believe the fun and excitement that await you! We hope you'll eventually try our other MC-2 titles, as well as many of the other thrilling titles produced by Mama Marvel. As for back issues, we suggest you check out the Yellow Pages under "Comic Book Stores" and see what your local merchants have to offer. If that doesn't work, you could always write to one of the mail order companies that advertise in our comics, or shop the internet. We sincerely wish you the best of luck...because we hear our back issues are getting rather tough to find.

Dear MC-2,

I think it would be great if May joined the new Avengers.

Steven Kershaw
Westbrook, CT

You may get your wish, Steven...in Spider-Girl #13!

Dear Spider-Girl Crew,

I hope to see more of Normie "Green Goblin" Osborn.

Chris Mentzer
Mesa, AZ

Okay, Chris, then you'd better check out our very first Spider-Girl Annual which goes on sale next month! (We warn you now that this is a sixty-four-page, super spectacular that's filled with stories, features and other fun stuff!)

Dear Spider-Girl,

I just read a letter from a fan concerning the book's second-person narrative style ("Your name is May 'Mayday' Parker, and you've got fantastic powers.") which the reader claims she doesn't like because it constantly places the reader in the position of the character. I don't see it that way at all. I really like the captions because my take on them is that the captions are what goes through Mayday's head while she's having her adventures, since she really can't believe what's going on. She's narrating to herself. Sort of like when you or I get nervous, and give ourselves a little pep talk ("You can do this!"), or a congratulations after reaching a goal. ("You did it!").

Crimefighting, secret identities, and superhuman powers ain't exactly the typical high school kid's everyday problems, you know? May Parker's a quirky young lady, and the quirkiness of the book (captions included) is part of the charm that attracts me, and keeps me coming back for more.

Rich Belment
RichBelment@aol.com

Well said, Rich! Thanks for being there!

Dear Spider-Girl,

Could it be possible that there is some sort of "Spider-Boy" person, like Ben Reilly's lost son or something?

Smuddy Herns
(Address withheld by request)

Like we always say, Smuddy, anything's possible in the MC-2 universe...if enough readers request it. (We think that you, too, should check out our first Annual. While you won't exactly see a Spider-Boy, you will see someone even cooler...)
