HER THOUGHTS WERE CONSTANTLY CONCERNED WITH THE WELFARE OF OTHERS. ONE EVENING AFTER PRAYERS . . .

WHY DIDN'T YOU COMPLAIN WHEN THIS JUNE BUG FLEW INTO YOUR HAIR, ALICE?

Holiday For Sweethearts

ABOUT seventeen hundred years ago, when the mighty legions of the Roman Empire were battling for first place in the Military League, Emperor Claudius suddenly issued a decree outlawing any further marriages! The Roman ruler had it all doped out. Once a man gets married, Claudius figured, he resents the idea of having to leave his family to fight a war, and consequently doesn't make a very good soldier.

A Roman priest, Valentine by name, was grieved at this blow to family life, so he sought a means of evading Claudius' decree. He beckoned young lovers to come to him and he would secretly marry them. Eventually the Emperor got wind of what Valentine was up to, and he had him tossed into prison, where he died in 271 (A.D.).

This martyr to love was made a saint by the Church, who allotted the day of his death, February 14th, to him. The young Roman youths and maidens, to whom St. Valentine gave his life, began to honor this day as "the day for all true lovers."

In this manner, it is generally believed, originated the festive occasion of St. Valentine's Day, which is dedicated to lovers throughout the world. Actually, we are not really certain how the holiday began, nor are we sure of its true significance. So while there is no proof of the truth of the Valentine-Claudius tale, we'll string along with that version for celebrating St. Valentine's Day, until someone comes along with a better account.

One of the experts who tried to smash this romantic origin of Valentine's Day, was a chap named Bourne. He snooped around ancient historical records for a spell and finally came up with the following fanciful story:

"Three Egyptian words will tell us more about the customs of Valentine's Day than all the falsehoods concerning the saint. Va (Egyptian) or Fa means 'to bear.' Ren is 'the name' and 'to name.' Ten means 'to determine.' Thus the name of Va-len-tine is that of determining whose name shall be borne by each person in this mode of marriage by drawing lots. Valentine's Day is a day of coupling, and the custom points to the time when chance rather than choice was the law. Marriage is still said to be a lottery. The custom of sending caricatures on Valentine's Day is probably based on asserting the freedom of choice, and making a mock of chance."

Another "take it or leave it" explanation for the origin of Valentine's Day is that birds are thought to choose their mates on this day. Shakespeare alludes to this old belief in "Midsummer Night's Dream."

While St. Valentine's Day in modern times has become almost obsolete, it once ranked in importance with Christmas and New Years. In England, Scotland, and parts of France, during the Middle Ages, young maids and bachelors would gather together on the evening before Valentine's Day for a party. The highlight of the occasion came when each person drew from a receptacle a slip of paper—a "valentine"—with a name written on it. The person whose name was written on the paper then became the holder's sweetheart for an entire year.

In due time Valentine's Day became marked by the exchange between the sexes of romantic thoughts written upon scented paper and lavishly decorated with hearts, arrows, doves, and other symbols of love. These notes were flourishly written in verse and presented to "My Valentine."

During the heyday of this custom, young women who received these highly prized tokens of love, would read the notes with trembling hands, blush prettily, and then crumple them dearly to their hearts. These original romantic verses were not taken lightly; they were considered true declarations of love.

Eventually these hand-written Valentine Day cards gave way to the manufactured valentine greetings. It was less wearing on the male swain to have a professional poet think up some romantic sentiments with which to impress a girl. It is not surprising, therefore, that the valentine soon lost much of its dignity and much of its true significance.

In fifteenth century England, when the custom of drawing a sweetheart's name by lot was at its height, the ceremony among the upper classes was usually followed with a gay dinner and party. St. Valentine's Day, because of the very wealth of tradition surrounding its name, is a natural for lending itself to decorative schemes in entertainment. Thus, despite the fact that the holiday in our generation is hardly as significant as it once was, women hostesses like to go "all out" in entertaining on this day.

Among the holiday keynotes are gayety and frivolity. A favorite is the "lover's luncheon," which often winds up with the boy and girl announcing their engagement. Another highly prized affair is "Hearts and Showers," a special valentine shower for the bride-to-be. Particularly appropriate is the valentine masquerade dance. The latest innovation is the valentine bridge party, where the attractive favors displayed by stationery stores at this time make excellent bridge prizes.

Not so long ago, a lavish masquerade ball was held in New York on Valentine eve. The invitations were sent out in pairs, and each couple was required to come to the "Lovers' Pageant" dressed as a duo of famous historical lovers. Among the romantic teams that showed up were Romeo and Juliet, Jack and Jill, Tristan and Isolde, Cinderella and the Prince. As the romantic couples entered the ballroom, each of them was given a lacy valentine upon which was written the name of his or her partner for the evening. Thus, for one night only, there was a slight switch in the affairs of romance, as Romeo danced with Cinderella, and Jack whispered sweet nothings in the ears of Juliet!

MANACLES OF MARS! SHE'S CATCHING
OUR WEAPONS ON HER BRACELETS!

Wonder Woman

MEANWHILE, IN MARS' ROYAL BOX AT THE ARENA-

DID YOU SEE WONDER WOMAN'S FACE WHEN -- HA HA! -- I TOLD HER SHE FAILED? HA HA! AND NOW THAT SHE'S GONE, I'LL REALLY -- HA HA! -- ENJOY THE WAR GAMES!

HA HA!

SUDDENLY--

WH-WHAT'S THAT?
WHAT'S HAPPENING?

IT'S-- IT'S -- WONDER WOMAN!

AS THE INCENSE FLOATS OVER THE BATTLEFIELD OF MARS, FLOWERS SPRING UP FROM THE BARREN GROUND -- GUARDS FREE THEIR SLAVES -- SOLDIERS CAST DOWN THEIR SWORDS -- AND LOVE REIGNS IN PLACE OF FORCE!

THE UNKNOWN FUTURE IS WHAT WE MAKE IT -- EITHER PEACE OR WAR! MISERY OR MERRIMENT! IF PEOPLE COULD REMEMBER THAT -- THERE'S BUT ONE CHOICE THEY WOULD MAKE! LOOK FOR YOURSELF, MARS, AND SEE WHAT THAT CHOICE WOULD BE!

Wonder Woman

DECEPTION'S SPACE YACHT TRANSPORTS
WONDER WOMAN TO LIMBO, MARS' SECRET
JAIL, HIDDEN IN OUTER SPACE --

SO THIS IS MARS' UNKNOWN FUTURE! THE GOD OF WAR'S MIND IS SO EMPTY OF ANYTHING
BUT DESTRUCTION -- THAT HIS IDEA OF THE FUTURE IS JUST THE BLANK
SPACE OF -- LIMBO!

WE KNEW YOU'D FIND US, WONDER WOMAN!

WOO WOO! I'M PERISHING FOR A BITE OF CANDY!

PERISHING IS JUST THE WORD!

I HAVE AN IDEA DECEPTION
WILL TRY ONE LAST TRICK!
WELL, I'LL BE READY FOR IT!

HOG-TIE
THOSE VARMINTS!
WONDER WOMAN!
WOO WOO!

THE GUARDS QUICKLY SUBDUED, ETTA RAISES
A TROUBLESOME QUESTION --

WHAT ABOUT HOLLIDAY
COLLEGE, WONDER
WOMAN? IT WON'T FIT
INTO DECEPTION'S
SPACE YACHT --

THAT'S REMEDIED
EASILY ENOUGH, ETTA.

SUSPICIOUS OF WILY DECEPTION, THE CLEVER AMAZON SUBSTITUTES
ANOTHER SPACE SHIP --

WE'LL BE MORE
COMFORTABLE IN A SHIP
THAT IS NOT DESIGNED FOR DECEPTION!
