THE NEW WONDERFUL WORLD OF WONDER WOMAN

M-162

Dear Editor:

I must admit that when Wonder Woman was "de-Wonderized" in No. 179 I did not like the radical change. Now eight issues later, although I still miss the Amazon heritage, the New Wonder Woman has begun to grow on me. There are two reasons for this.

Firstly, if you really stop to think about it, in some respects she has not really changed. Her indomitable spirit is still with her, and the beauty that was once renowned is now at its apex, thanks to your expert hand at the easel. Her real name, Diana Prince, remains, and Queen Hippolyte continues to hold court on Paradise Island (albeit in a different dimension). Thus, fans who occasionally suffer pangs of nostalgia for the "good old days" would do well to remember these points.

Secondly, the stories are more realistic. The dialogue, the new characters, the art—the tone in general is more akin to our present era.

For the future—to insure Wonder Woman's continued existence on the market—please try to avoid continued stories. Remember, two months—especially for your younger readers—is a very long time, during which memories of plots may fail and interest in WW lapse. Therefore, I hope that Issue No. 188 will see the end of Dr. Cyber (or at least her capture).

Also, I would like to suggest guest-stars. Since the trend these days seems to be the revival of former DC luminaries (witness: The Vigilante in the Justice League, The Hawk and the Dove in the Teen Titans, and Deadman in Aquaman), may I recommend that you do likewise by bringing back a rather unusual character—Zatanna, the lady magician!

Best of luck in the new year,
Joe Arul

Dear Joe:

Cyber is finally dead! Glad the new WW has begun to grow on you. As for guest stars—that's kind of difficult because so few of the other characters would really fit with the new Wonder Woman. We are trying to make our stories more realistic, not all of them, though—but one thing I can promise you, as long as I'm editor of WW you won't see any bug-eyed monsters or dinosaurs stomping around through the city, stepping on cars, wrecking buildings, etc.—nor will you see aliens from outer space trying to take over the world.

—Ed.

Dear Editor:

I'd like to say one thing about Wonder Woman. She's super. That may not be the right word for it but that's all I can think of. I'd like to ask you some questions. Who was Steve Trevor? How did I Ching get blind? Is Diana Prince Wonder Woman's real name? Is Diana Prince ever going to get married?

Yours truly,
Verona Prince, New York, New York

Answer 1—Steve Trevor was Diana Prince's boyfriend in the old Wonder Woman books. He died saving Diana from some of Dr. Cyber's agents.

Answer 2—I Ching was blinded by some of his old enemies in China a long time ago.

Answer 3—Yes.

Answer 4—I don't know—she still doesn't seem to have met Mr. Right.

—Ed.

Dear Editor,

I have read The New Wonder Woman no. 187 and 188 and loved them except for the part in no. 188 when Dr. Cyber took off her wig, unwrapped her bandages and didn't even have her face shown. But even so, I'm looking forward to no. 189.

Very truly yours,
Jane Sasnowitz, Swan Lake, N.Y.

Dear Jane.

It was much better you didn't see it. Besides, we have to leave something to the imagination—

—Ed.

Dear Editor,

I just started reading Wonder Woman a few issues before her change. Now Wow! Never change her! She's great, her clothes mix in with the fashion and she's really "now."

I really want to commend you on 183 and 184. I have a special interest in Greek mythology and this to me was better than any book!

Always a fan,

Mary Shorten, Towson, Md.

P.S. Please publish this letter just to show my friends the letters do get looked at!

To Mary Shorten—(I hope I got that right) from Towson, MD.

Dear Mary.

We are publishing your letter to prove to your friends that the letters do get looked at. Unfortunately, we cannot print all we get—but I do answer some personally also.

—Ed.

Dear Editor,

The same old rut. To be truthful, I expect her to go the way of Blackhawk, Rip Hunter and Deadman—it's only a matter of time. The truly sad thing is that there's nothing that can be done to prevent it after having tried once and failed. What more is there to say?

Myke Harre, Ohio U., Athens, Ohio

AWWW, Myke—What more is there to say?! You could always say you're sorry!

—Ed.

Dear Ed—

Will Diana Prince ever start to dream of when she was the Wonder Woman a few years ago? Does she ever think of her family and old friends? If it is possible will you ever show her in her dream of her past experience as the old Wonder Woman?

Sincerely yours,
Fannie Lister.

Fannie—Watch for Wonder Woman #193!—Ed.

Now to answer some questions from

Robert Harkins, Doylestown Pa. It was referred to as the "golden age" because comics never sold better than in that period.

Jerry Wilson of Omaha, Neb. Yes, Jerry, sorry to say the Metal Men is finished!

Margaret V. Vaughn—Sorry Margaret. But we no longer have that issue available in unbound copies.

William Kellogg, Chicago, Ill.—When Diana gave up her super powers, she also had to give up her robot plane and magic lasso. That was part of the deal. Paradise Island is in another dimension. Wonder Girl is with the Teen Titans. Wonder Tot—? I don't know.

Cindy Madden, Bossier City, La.—Wonder Woman is published 6 times a year. And I'll see what I can do about your other request.

Micky Johnson, Goshen, Ala.—No, Wonder Woman is no longer with the JLA. Black Canary has taken her place.

—Ed.
